

Program Activities

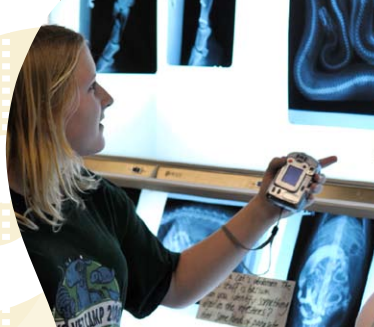

Ever wonder what kinds of challenges and opportunities you might experience as a veterinarian? As a week-long student at the Atlantic Veterinary College (AVC), you'll have the opportunity to see what being a veterinarian is really like!

AVC Vet Camp offers an educational adventure like no other. You'll learn about anatomy, wildlife medicine, and animal behaviour. You'll get to visit our large- and small-animal hospitals, including our intensive care units, and take a trip to a working dairy farm. You'll learn about keeping pets healthy, at home and on a farm. You'll also take part in lively discussions on animal-related social and public health issues that face veterinarians today, and learn all about the educational requirements to become a veterinarian.

Here are some of the areas of veterinary medicine you will learn about at AVC Vet Camp:

- Small-animal Medicine
